

If every South African citizen register to vote and votes in Election 2014, we will as a Nation practise our democratic right to freedom.

But

If we don't vote, then we allow other people to take that right away from us without any effort.

This can happen:

Our constitution protects:

- Property rights
- Language rights
- Press freedom
- The right to decent education

You have the power to protect our Constitution with your vote!

Here's what you need to know about registration:

If you've registered before, you're still registered.

If you've moved since the last election, you must re-register where you live.

You can register on the weekend of the 9th and 10th November by taking your ID to your nearest voting station.

On this weekend, all voting stations will be open from 8am till 5pm.

To check whether you're registered, SMS your ID to 32810.

If you need help in registering, call the IEC on 0800 11 8000(Toll free) or email on iec@elections.org.za.

Am I registered?

You have applied for registration with:

ID number:

--	--	--	--	--	--	--	--	--	--	--	--	--	--	--

and are registered in:

Province:

Municipality:

Ward Number:

Your are eligible to vote: ☐

You can find us on

In this election, every vote will count. So go out and register to win!