THE 'WHITE ZULU' JOHNNY CLEGG SUCCUMBS TO CANCER

by Mpo Sibanyoni – 16 July 2019

- 1 The music legend Johnny Clegg died of pancreatic cancer at the age of 66. Johnny who was fondly known among his legion of fans as The White Zulu was popular for singing his songs both in IsiZulu and English.
- 2 He became a household name in townships and rural areas at the height of apartheid in the 1980s when he formed a band Juluka with Sipho Mchunu. Juluka was later disbanded when Mchunu decided to call it quits when he went to his rural village in KwaZulu Natal to start a new career as a farmer.
- 3 Some of his popular offerings include Scatterlings of Africa, Asimbonanga and Impi. A media statement released by Johnny's family said he was diagnosed with pancreatic cancer in July 2015. "It is with immense sadness that we confirm that Jonathan Clegg succumbed to pancreatic cancer at the age of 66 on the afternoon of 16 July 2019 at his home in Johannesburg," said Johnny's manager, friend and family spokesperson, Roddy Quinn.
- 4 "Johnny leaves deep footprints in the hearts of every person that considers himself or herself to be an African. He showed us what it was to assimilate and to embrace other cultures without losing our identity," said Quinn.

5 He described Johnny as a man who used his music to speak to every person. Johnny was born on June 7 1953 in Bacup, Lancashire, England and moved to South Africa with his Rhodesian mother when he was only 6 years old. Quinn said Johnny's exposure to Zulu migrant workers during adolescence introduced him to the culture and music. His involvement with black musicians often saw him arrested.

6 At the age of 17, together with Siphon Mchunu, they formed their first band called Juluka. At the age of 33 in 1986, during the height of apartheid, he partnered with Dudu Zulu to form his second inter-racial band called Savuka.

7 Clegg also recorded several solo albums and enjoyed international success selling out concerts wherever he performed.

Apart from lecturing at the University of Witwatersrand and Natal respectively, Johnny studied Anthropology and combined his studies with music.

8 Despite being diagnosed with pancreatic cancer, Johnny continued to tour and perform around the world to pay tribute to his fans worldwide. "The family will be holding a private funeral service and we ask you to please respect the families' wishes," Quinn said. "There will be a service for the public to pay their last respects and the details will be announced in due course," said Quinn. Johnny is survived by his wife of 31 years, Jenny, and their two sons Jesse and Jaron.

HOW TO BECOME A GOOD SINGER

Singing is an art that must be developed by those that aspire to be great singers. Below are some of the facts that one should consider in order to be a good singer. Take online lessons. These are structured lessons and are affordable by many people unlike face to face tuition which is charged per hour.

Warming up as a singer is very important. All professional singers warm up their voices. Some people are not good when it comes to singing and breathing at the same time. Managing your breathing is one of the most important things for singers to master. One must understand that breathing for singing and breathing for speaking are different.

There are some excellent vocal coaches that explain how to breath properly. Forcing your voice out is not a good idea. Attending to breaks and cracks cannot be over-emphasised. Cracks and breaks happen between registers and so you need vocal exercises to build muscles up.

A good singer should learn to sing with power and one needs to learn to master it. Think of those rich people who crash their sports cars. Their Ferrari has too much power and they do not know how to control it. To get more power, you do not need to push your voice. For more power you often need to learn to control your tongue.

Do not be afraid to 'hit' high notes. You do not need more air to 'hit' high notes. To develop this, you need to do staccato singing exercises. You may also need to improve your vocal range and this is more of an advanced technique. To increase your vocal range you need to practice transitioning from short notes to longer ones.

Source: [www.bing.com/images of the ndlovu choir. Accessed on 16 May 2019.]

Read the passage below and answer the questions that follow.

The Ndlovu Youth Choir first caught the attention of South Africans when they delivered a stellar performance on reality competition, America's Got Talent, getting a standing ovation from the audience.

The group who originates from Limpopo has now made it through to the live rounds of the show, and they could not be happier. "We have received the most amazing messages of encouragement," said Ralph, the group's choir master.

The video of The Ndlovu Youth Choir's America's Got Talent audition has gained over 5 million views on You Tube, something that Ralph did not see coming. "We thought there would be a few people from around the world that would see it, and maybe a few of our friends and one or two people from South Africa would be interested, but never envisioned the overwhelming support that we have received."

Although the choir members are anxious, they seem to agree that there is one thing that is more important than winning, and that is representing the country and letting people know what they do. "If we could just spread joy, and a message of hope, and be the voice for the young people who do not believe that they can make it, then that is enough for us," singer Thulisile said.
