When Feak retired from DotA: Allstars in 2005, a fellow website user under the pseudonym Gabe , became its lead designer. By the late 2000s, icefrog Defense of the Ancients became one of the most popular mods worldwide, as well as a prominent esports game. Gabe and Mescon later had a falling out in May 2009, which prompted the former to establish a new community website at playdota.com. Valve's interest in the icefrog Dota intellectual property began when several veteran employees, including Team Fortress 2 designer Robin Walker and executive Erik Johnson, became fans of the mod and wanted icefrog to build a modern sequel. The company corresponded with Gabe by email about his long-term plans for the project, and he was subsequently hired to design a sequel. Gabe announced his new position through his blog in October 2009, with Dota 2 being announced a year later.	1
